

Jobmate Touch is very easy to use and you will quickly learn how to work with it. The thin design makes it easy to move your hands between the trackpad and keyboard. You obtain a good, ergonomic working posture, you can straighten your wrists, and it relieves strain on your arms, neck and shoulders.

The trackpad's smooth surface is very pleasant to the touch and its large format provides ample space to work, with a natural feel when scrolling and swiping across a page. Moreover, with the large surface, it works superbly with two displays. The entire pad is touch-enabled, with left- and right-click functionality at the lower edge. This makes it easy to drag a document – select by tapping with one finger and then drag the document with another.

Jobmate Touch has a zoom function similar to smartphones or tablets; you zoom by moving two fingers apart or together. You scroll by placing two fingers on the pad and then moving them downwards or upwards. Use three fingers to turn it off/on.

With the built-in spacers, you always have the keyboard at exactly the right height, the same as Jobmate, giving you the most ergonomic working posture. Place the keyboard on the "arms" and turn the spacers to adjust their height. If you have a keyboard with a bottom edge, it's easy to completely remove the spacer screws.

There is no need to download drivers or other software for the product to function. Simply connect the cord to one of the computer's USB outputs, wait a few seconds and you can you start.
